MISSES TWO GOOD CHANCES

Muddle Over the Middleweight Title No Nearer Solution than Before.

Those who watched Eddle McGoorty, of Oshkosh, and Bob Moha, of Milwaukes, oox ten rounds at the St. Nicholas Athletic Club last night agreed after the bout that the muddle over the middleweight title to as far from solution as ever. On gpoints perhaps, McGoorty won, but it was poor, disappointing battle. The men led once, then held and grappled until Dan Tone, the referee, threatened to stop the farce in the sixth round.

McGoorty earned what little advantage he gained with his left hand. His right was of little use, except for blocking, but aggressive he might have scored a knockout, but when he had his man groggy on two different occasions he held back and let him recover. The bout did not start until 10:35 o'clock.

The delay was caused by a dispute over the weights. The men agreed to weigh 158 pounds at 3 o'clock, but both were overweight. At 4:30 o'clock McGoorty went to dinner. When they finally weighed in at the club Moha demanded McGoorty's forfeit, as he had weighed 157 pounds at a Turkish bath, while the latter scaled 163% ounds at the ringside.

Finally, however, the question was straightened out, and the bout began before a good sized crowd.
